Trauma insurance

Did you know with regards to mortgage foreclosures, that for every one home lost through fire, there are four homes that are lost through death and 48 homes lost through disablement.

Each year there are approximately 350,000 new cases of cancer diagnosed, one in four women are likely to suffer from some form of cancer in their lifetime and one in every eleven women is likely to develop breast cancer.

Trauma insurance, also known as critical illness insurance, is a relatively new product that pays a lump sum of money upon the occurrence of an insured event, provided that the definition of that event in the policy is satisfied. The lump sum is paid to the policy owner and they can use it as they see fit.

With medical breakthroughs and improvements in today's medical practices, many once fatal diseases, illnesses and medical conditions are now curable or manageable. Trauma insurance provides options in the face of recovery from a traumatic event occurring.
